Special Symposium Session 4
EANM Journals
Monday, October 6, 15:00 – 16:30

Session Title
Scientific Writing in 2025

Chairpersons
Arturo Chiti (Milan, Italy)
Nathalie Albert (Munich, Germany)
Shuo Hu (Changsha, China)

Programme
15:00 – 15:20 Laszlo Papp (Vienna, Austria): LLM: do and do not
15:20 – 15:40 Ruiqing Ni (Zurich, Switzerland): How to prepare and share your data
15:40 – 16:10 Mariana Andrade (Charleroi, Belgium): How to write a great paper without LLMs
16:10 – 16:30 Discussion

Educational Objectives
1. Understand the risks and opportunities of LLMs in scientific writing.
2. Learn how to treat scientific data and use data repositories.
3. Know the main issues related to writing a manuscript.

Summary
The session will describe the impact of data preparation, curation, and sharing in scientific writing, how large language models can help to improve a manuscript without substituting humans, and the tips and tricks for a successful publication.

Key Words
Scientific publications; Journal metrics; Young researchers